WEATHER BULLETIN.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—For Lower Michigan—Thunder storms and local showers tonight, followed by clearing and generally fair weather Wednesday; westerly winds and cooler in eastern portion.

DAKE THEY BE HONEST?

Here is a chance for the men, who, in the Central Labor Union, passed a resolution endorsing Governor Altgeld's reasons for pardoning the anarchists, to place themselves on record before the community. An active sympathizer with the cause of labor submits the following invitation:

GRAND RAPIDS, July 25.
Editor of THE HERALD.—Noting the article in your paper of this date that the Central Labor union of Grand Rapids had passed resolutions endorsing Governor Altgeld for pardoning the anarchists, who, in the resolution made, were convicted of such heinous crimes, and the endorsement the governing body gave to (anarchists) free speech.

Now I will presume the framers and supporters of that resolution to be sincere, and therefore not at all devoid of their trust. I therefore ask them through the columns of your paper to publish the "yes" vote at that resolution, giving the full name of the voter, helping that it would be of interest to the people to know who the men are that endorse the "anarchist" sentence.

If the men who voted for the resolution are sincere and honest they will not refuse to comply with this suggestion. They are certainly as brave, or ought to be, as the idol of their admiration, Anarchist Altgeld. There is no good reason why they should not identify themselves individually as a "group" of anarchists and relieve the great body of intelligent patriotic workmen of the city from the stigma thrown upon them by the Altgeld resolutions. Gentlemen of the local "group," THE HERALD's columns are open to your signatures attached to the Altgeld resolution.

TANNER SPEAKS.

Ex-Commissioner Tanner indignantly repels the insinuation, made by democratic pensioners, that he acted from motives of personal friendship in increasing Justice Long's pension. He had personal and therefore official knowledge of the character and extent of the wounds. He saw Justice Long's amputated arm and the terrible open wound in his body. There were papers on file in the pension office praying for further relief, and upon these papers and his own knowledge of the disabilities of the pensioner Tanner ordered an increase. As well might it be held that a judge before whom the dead body of a person with whom he was acquainted in life is brought for identification, must not take judicial notice of the death except upon cumulative documentary proof. Commissioner Tanner was supported by affidavits regularly filed, and further by personal examination and observation of Justice Long's disabilities. It is a monstrous perversion of the common rules of evidence to hold that he had no sufficient proof upon which to base an order granting an increase to Justice Long. He did a noble, lawful, patriotic duty and the democratic pensioners will see their mistake before the end is reached in their unreasoning attack on the pension roll.

THEY DEMAND GOLD.

Up to date the government has issued approximately $60,000,000 in certificates in payment for the silver purchased under the Sherman act. These certificates are redeemable in gold. They are paid to silver mine owners for the silver purchased from them by the government. A remarkable fact in connection with the issue of the gold-redeemable certificates to the mine owners is that 10 per cent of them have been presented for redemption by the silver mine owners, and they have been paid in exchange therefor. They demand that silver shall be equal to a coin-metal with gold on an established ratio, and declare that the country will go to the demerit line where silver shall be purchased at the rate of 1500.00 ounces per month, and then turn right around and demand the yellow coin in exchange for their white metal. There is a powerful reason in this for the potential insolvency of the silver producers.

CARPENTER'S DISCRETION.

Secretary Carleton denies very emphatically the rumor which was sent out from New York, that he had been tendered the vacancy in the supreme court caused by the death of Justice Harlan. But when asked whether he would accept it if it were tendered to him by the judiciary, as he became a man who would be very glad to let some other fellow hold up the financial end of the administration if he could only own his life over to a membership in the supreme court. His anxiety on the subject has not been lessened by the statement made several days ago by a friend of Secretary Gresham, and not up to this time contradicted, that Mr. Cleveland had promised that the influence of the administration should be exerted to make Gresham the democratic presidential nominee in '08. Mr. Carleton has been encouraging the bee to do a little buzzing around his head, but he knows that there cannot be two administration candidates.

WAR WOULD HELP US.

What effect would a war in Asia have upon our trade? It would have an appreciable effect; but there would be no general revival of commerce, stimulated by unusual demands for our products. Perhaps the manufacturers of arms and ammunition might profit by the opening of markets now supplied by the countries which are likely to be drawn into the war. Then too there might be a quickened demand for canned goods, but that would not of itself revive our drooping industries. Of course if the base of operations should extend from Siam to any one of the great countries of continental Europe our trade and commerce would receive a marked impetus. War in any country of Europe would suspend active industry in that country and compel the inhabitants as well as the armed forces to rely upon other countries for subsistence and munitions of war. Being quite neutral, the United States would become a great supply depot or commissary department and it would follow that our profit would be correspondingly great. But from an Asiatic war we could expect no very palpable good effects upon our trade and commerce.

KEEPS US HUNTLING.

It takes very lively hunting these days to keep up with the changes in the plans of the administration. The announcement was made months ago that the administration in conjunction with several eminent free traders intended to prepare a tariff bill and that Secretary Carleton's supposed knowledge on the subject was the principal reason for his having been made secretary of the treasury—his best friends never claimed that he was selected for his financial knowledge, they couldn't, because he had none. This was printed in all the administration papers and was never denied until now, when Secretary Carleton says that no tariff bill is being prepared, and that neither he nor President Cleveland ever "thought of doing anything which might be interpreted as an attempt to dictate to the house what it should do in regard to the tariff." He forgets, however, to tell why this statement was not made long ago, which makes the inference clear that the free trade idea has been, for the time any way, abandoned.

This morning at 11:5 a quick, sharp detonation succeeded by a blinding flash of light and the hoarse roar of the heaven's artillery startled the night workers of the morning papers. Afterward the tower lights in the southwest part of the city were seen to be extinguished, and it is surmised that Jove in a playful mood smote one of the glimmering beacons. The report was so abrupt as to startle the stoutest nerves. The police are not permitted to report during the continuance of a thunder storm, and it was therefore impossible to learn what, if any, injury had been done.

BURNED IN A WRECK

Heads and Shoulders Cremated of Railroad Wreck Victims.

THREE MEET AWFUL DEATH

A Cow Throws a Freight Train Off the Track and Fire Adds to Its Horrors.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., July 25.—Freight train No. 22, southbound, on the Ohio Valley railroad, was wrecked this morning at 12:30 o'clock near Morgantown, Ky., about thirty miles south of this city. The killed are: Frank Threlkeld, fireman, Hatfield, Ind.; Frederick Van Dorn, engineer, Henderson, Ky.; William Davis, head brakeman, Hopkinsville, Ky.

Davis was thrown from the cars to the ground and caught in the debris. When the cars took fire he was still pinned under a freight car and was burned into an almost unrecognizable mass. Threlkeld was caught in the engine and crushed to death in an instant. Engineer Van Dorn's body was burned to a crisp.

The wreck was caused by the engine striking a cow. The engine was thrown from the track and six cars behind piled on top of it. Fire from the engine ignited the mass of freight cars and before long it had developed into a big blaze. The bodies of two of the unfortunate victims were dug out of the ground from under a car of wheat. Both of their heads and shoulders were burned off to the lower part of the body. The bodies were taken to Morgantown where hundreds of people viewed their horribly mutilated remains today. A wrecking train was dispatched to the scene early this morning and regular traffic was resumed at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The monetary loss is estimated at $25,000.

WAR ON DISPENSARIES.

Judge Hudson Makes a Move in the South Carolina Conflict.

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 25.—The dispensary battle is now raging fast and furious. The threats of impeaching Judge Hudson for his decision permanently enjoining the dispensary at Darlington and his later decree refusing to grant the state detectives an order to search an alleged liquor dealer's house and confiscate his property have had no intimidating effect on him, and today he put still another nail in the dispensary coffin by calling upon the Darlington dispensary people to show cause next Friday why they should not be ruled for contempt of court in reopening the dispensary. This is a bold move, but it is exactly what has been predicted by persons who know Judge Hudson's fearless character. It is bold because it is directly in the face of an order issued by Associate Justice Pope staying and superseding Judge Hudson's injunction order until the assembling of the supreme court in November. The order of Justice Pope was obtained by Attorney General Townsend, who went to Newberry and procured it quietly in chambers. The dispensary was accordingly opened again.

WOULD LYNCH A BRUTE.

A Jersey Man Narrowly Escapes With His Life for Maltreating a Boy.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., July 25.—Charles L. Parney caught 10-year-old John Taylor stealing an apple from his orchard last night. He dragged the lad into the cellar where the child's cries could not be heard, and there strung him up by his thumbs to a post. Parney then walked down town and boasted of what he had done. The story spread quickly and a mob gathered at the house. An hour after the boy had been tied up a policeman rushed into the cellar and found the boy in a pool of blood. Parney was taken to the police station and charged with the murder of the boy. He was held in the jail. The boy's father made desperate efforts to kill Parney. Young Taylor's condition is critical.

VOLCANO IN NEBRASKA.

It Throws Out Currents of Torrid Air, That's All.

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, July 25.—A genuine volcano is the latest product of Nebraska. It is about four miles south of Ponca, and was discovered by a party of bicyclists last week. From a fissure in the hills a blast of hot air is issuing with force sufficient to carry twigs and bits of paper a distance of several feet. The air is said to be of a temperature sufficient to keep investigators at a respectful distance. The crater of an extinct volcano about twelve miles from Ponca was noted in an account of the Lewis and Clark expedition, and the site has frequently been visited since. The river in the neighborhood has been eating into the bank and destroying the roads, and it is thought that the water may have reached a deposit of limestone and produced heat.

FOR ANOTHER WOMAN.

Why Confectioner Mailard's Common Law Wife Assailed Him.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Josephine Mail, who brought an action for divorce against Henry Mailard, the confectioner, claiming to be his common law wife, was at the Jefferson Market police court today, charged with assaulting him. Mrs. Mail's suit resulted in a separation by mutual consent. She, by the terms of the separation, received $500 a month and a house. Her attorney said today that it was stipulated that Mailard was to keep away from his wife, Mrs. Mail, a dressmaker. In his affidavit Mr. Mailard accuses her of withholding him on the head with an umbrella in the office of his factory and of using violent and abusive language to him. He further states that she demanded that he keep away from a certain other woman. Mrs. Mail was paroled for examination.

BLOODTHIRSTY SUICIDE.

Attempts to Kill His Parents and Wife Before Death.

CLEVELAND, July 25.—The suicide of a man who was a most notorious criminal when he killed himself was reported at the central station this afternoon. Fred White, a grape grower about 40 years old, living in Lake county, on the Chardon road, three miles east of Euclid, Ohio, went to his parents' home, a short distance from his own, Saturday afternoon, July 22, and while trying to pick a quarrel with his mother, suddenly seized her, and hurling her against the wall in the yard near the doorway, would perhaps have killed her had not his father interfered. White then choked his father until the latter was rescued by his own wife and the wife of his infuriated son before receiving permanent injuries. The younger man was then induced to go home by the women, but after reaching there he got his shotgun and killed his pet cat, which came to meet him, and threw its body behind a door. Then he blew his own brains out with the other charge in the gun. His nose and face were horribly mangled by the shot and blood and brains were scattered about the house. His death was almost instantaneous. White leaves besides his wife two children.

St. Louis, July 25.—A north bound freight train on the St. Louis, Chicago and St. Paul railroad, crashed through a trestle over Keith's station at 2:30 o'clock this morning, piling the entire train in a heap. Conductor W. E. Burelle, of Springfield, Ill., was instantly killed. Brakeman Johnson and W. A. Clements, of Alton, and Walter Manning, of Springfield, were probably fatally injured. The trestle was comparatively new.

FATAL FREIGHT WRECK.

May All Be Discharged. Chicago, July 25.—It is possible that Daniel H. Burnham, director of works, and Fire Marshal Murphy will soon be released from the finding of the coroner's jury who sat on the victims of the cold storage fire. State Attorney Ken is convinced that the coroner's jury acted hastily, and he will advise the grand jury that the cases against them be thrown out.

ALL WILL RECOVER.

AKRON, Ohio, July 25.—The latest reports from those who were wounded in the wreck on the Pittsburgh & Western railroad this morning are to the effect that all will recover. There are three or four cases where unfavorable symptoms may be manifested but the majority will be all right within a few days.

ST. CLAIR IN A FIGHT.

Battle Royal Between the Commissioner and Columbian Guards.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Colonel J. W. St. Clair, commissioner to the world's fair from Washington, D. C., and a member of the council of administration, had a fight at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon with a gatekeeper and three Columbian guards. The colonel left his commissioner's badge at home and wished to pass through the turnstile at the terminal station, gave on his personal card alone. The guard refused to allow him to pass, despite he knew Colonel St. Clair. Finally he let him through, making an insulting remark. A guard stepped up and asked the trouble. The wrathful commissioner abruptly informed the guard that two military Columbian guards came up. One of them took hold of Colonel St. Clair's arm and was instantly knocked down by the latter. With this the gatekeeper and the two remaining guards went at the colonel hammer and tongs, and for the next five minutes they went badly mixed up that it was impossible to distinguish one from the other. More Columbian guards arrived, and the men were separated. The colonel, with his face and shirt front covered with blood, went to the office of President Hughes and washed up, while the gatekeeper, equally gory, were conducted to the Service building for a similar purpose. Colonel St. Clair said the guards and gatekeeper all knew him and had been letting him in on his card for a week. He claims the gatekeeper insulted him.

MADE BISHOP COADJUTOR.

SEWASKE, Tenn., July 25.—The Rev. Thomas Eric Gayler, S. T. D., was consecrated at noon today as the bishop coadjutor of Tennessee. Bishops Quintard of Tennessee, Dudley of Kentucky, Nelson of Georgia, Seseums of Louisiana, and Gray of Southern Florida were present. Bishop Seymour of Springfield preached the consecration sermon.

DEATH OF A PIONEER.

Mrs. Emily Campau, wife of the late Touissant Campau, died in Big Rapids Monday morning, aged 74 years. The funeral will be held from St. Andrew's church in this city tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Mrs. Campau was one of the oldest residents of Grand Rapids. She came to this city in 1833, and married Touissant Campau, one of the historic family that settled the Grand river valley. She leaves five children: A. T. Campau of Big Rapids, Mrs. Henry Baily of Detroit, Mrs. Dr. Danforth of Casselle, Louis Campau of Grand Rapids, and Henry Campau of New York.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF.

The feminine depositors of the Mather bank, Lakewood, assembled Sunday to treat Mrs. E. K. Mather, in whose name the bank was run, to a shower of ancient eggs, but her crewel prevailed.

It has been decided to erect a handsome new brick and stone building costing $25,000, for St. Vincent's orphan asylum, Saginaw, on the site of the one destroyed by the fire.

HOTEL CHATS.

J. H. Colony of the Denver Investment Bond company is a guest at the Morton. "The feeling at Denver is much easier," said he. "Confidence in the banks has been restored, and the threatened panic averted. Of course we are experiencing rather hard times in Colorado still. The silver mine are shut down and hundreds of men are thrown out of employment. That naturally does not tend to make the outlook any brighter. But we are not disheartened, and we have hopes that everything will adjust itself perfectly in time."

M. P. Gale, president of the Northern National Bank in Big Rapids, was a late arrival in the Morton last night. The Northern National went under a few weeks ago, but the comptroller of the treasury will permit it to be reorganized and resume business again.

Thad B. Preston of Iowa, the kindergarten member of the famous Fifth district democrat "ring," was among yesterday's arrivals in the Morton.

Mrs. H. G. Potts, wife of a veteran Grand Haven newspaper man, dined in The New Livingston yesterday.

John Torrent, one of Muskegon's oldest lumbermen, was a guest in the Morton yesterday.

I. G. Mosser of Cadillac, one of the oldest contractors in the west, dined in Sweet's yesterday.

F. Heyman, a furniture buyer from Phoenix, Ariz., arrived at the Morton late last night.

The Rev. William M. Puffer of Hastings, formerly of this city, is registered in The Eagle.

STATE PRESS SENTIMENT.

The idea that mere political obligations of a personal character have any proper place in the action to be taken at the special session of congress with a view of restoring public confidence and relieving financial stringency, is unworthy of patriotic American statesmen. That which is best for the entire people is to be sought for, and considerations tending to any other end should be utterly ignored.—Detroit Free Press.

One of the tragic episodes of official life, says the Philadelphia Ledger, is found in the account which comes from Maine of a postmistress in that state who resigned her position several months ago that she could be married. As her successor has never been appointed, the mailing is indefinitely postponed.—Muskegon News.

It may possibly be true that Secretary Caudle would like to leave the cabinet if he could see any other cozy berth awaiting him, but the ex-actor from Kentucky has never yet shown a retiring disposition, so far as public office is concerned.—Detroit Tribune.

After the fire in the cold storage building on the world's fair grounds the sign "absolutely fire-proof" was still there. Probably the legend had reference only to the sign.—Kalamazoo Telegraph.

ALLEGED TO BE FUNNY.

Jones—"Are you going to the fair?" Van Rensselaer—"Now, 't would be a waste of time for me." "And why so, pray?" "I've been to Massachusetts."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Dickey (aged 18)—"Will you marry me, Pen?"

Penelope (aged 20)—"Marry a man who is younger than I am? Dear me, no! Wait until you are 25, Dickey. Then you'll be two years older than I am, and it will be perfectly proper."—Puck.

Master—"You were shamefully intoxicated last night, John. Just think, if anyone were to find you in that condition in the street!"

Servant—"You needn't be uneasy on that account, sir, because I always make it a point to carry one of your visiting cards with me wherever I go."—Paris Figaro.

He—"I thought it must have been cut out of something about that size."—Inter Urban.

"I met Jack Stangelon last evening. He tells me he is going out with a company next season which will produce 'Fireman Fred'."

"Indeed! What does he play?" "The hose."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Right Field—"What were the striking incidents of the game?"

Short Stop—"There were no striking incidents. All the fellows got their bases on balls."—Boston Transcript.

POINTS ABOUT MEN.

Canterbury, England, as well as Chicago, has a Sunday closing question, and Sir Douglas Cox is the lord high Sunday closer of the town. The workmen want the museums open on the first day of the week and Sir Douglas insists that they shall be closed. His remarks on the subject strongly resemble those made by numerous eminent divines in the recent controversy in this city, and so far he has succeeded in maintaining his point.

Governor Davis H. Waite of Colorado, who has just broken loose again with the statement that the people of the east can be led, is a native of Jamestown, New York. He is a lawyer by profession and for a time practiced in Fond du Lac, Wisconsin. After the war he went to Kansas, where he remained until 1881, when he removed to Aspen, Colorado. He is a calamity howler of the most pronounced type, and delights in predicting a universal cataclysm. He is 68 years old.

There is an ancient crusade going on in Brooklyn and the battle is raging fiercely. The crusade has a defender in the person of Miss McFarland, who owns a vast assortment of babies. She declares that she administers scrupulously to her pets every night, and that it renders them calm and quiet and averse to back fence concerns. The antagonists maintain that Miss McFarland's cats are only a few set of a going, and that the white tribe must go.
